Paris, 27 March 2012

Early registration discount ends 1 April

Only six days remain to register for the 2012 Summit on Seamless Transport at a reduced fee

Ministers from over 50 countries along with key transport leaders from public administration, business and academia will meet at the 2012 Summit of the International Transport Forum from 2-4 May 2012 in Leipzig, Germany, to help shape the policy agenda for greater connectivity in transport networks.

Seamless transport is the physical expression of one of the megatrends of the 21st century: complete connectivity. It means connecting people, markets, ideas.

How can we improve transport connectivity? To what extent is complete connectivity possible? What approaches should be taken politically, institutionally and technologically?

Among the high-level speakers joining Ministers are:

- Angel GURRÍA, Secretary-General, Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development
- Siim KALLAS, Vice President, Transport, European Commission
- Luca DI MONTEZEMOLO, Chairman, Ferrari and Nuovo Trasporto Viaggiatori, Italy
- Scott BELCHER, President and CEO, ITS America, USA
- Bill MEAHL, Chief Commercial Officer, Deutsche Post DHL, Germany
- Rüdiger GRUBE, CEO, DeutscheBahn, Germany
- Peter HENDY, Commissioner, Transport for London, UK
- José Luis IRIGOYEN, Director of Transport, The World Bank
- Yoshiyuki KASAI, Chairman, Central Japan Rail, Japan
- Helmut LIST, Chairman and CEO, AVL List, Germany
- Peter MILLER, CEO, ITO World Ltd, UK
- Koji MIYAHARA, CEO, NYK Line, Japan
- Patrick O’DOHERTY, CEO, Electricity Supply Board (ESB), Ireland
- Henri POUPART-LAFARGE, CEO, Alstom Transport, France
- Satoshi SEINO, CEO, East Japan Rail Company, Japan
- Ron WIDDOWS, CEO, Rickmers Holdings, Germany
